WEST BRIDGEWATER HIGH SCHOOL

PROLOGUE

"The Commonwealth requires the education of people as the safeguard of order and liberty..."

Carved into the granite facade of the Boston Public Library is the simple statement of one important essential—education. Education is the world's hope for survival as a human society, intellectually sound and morally free.

We at West Bridgewater High School believe that we are adhering to this tradition of education. We are being formed intellectually and morally to take a positive place in society, not as receivers merely, but givers as well. The concept of education as the perserver of order and liberty is the fruit of West Bridgewater's training. We mean to turn that concept into social reality.

"All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players. They have their exits and their entrances, and one man in his time plays many parts..."

You as graduates of West Bridgewater High School have been the players in the classrooms which have been your stage. Commencement opens to you the vast stage which lies before you awaiting your exits and your entrances which in time will end with a curtain call.

DEDICATION

We, the class of 1960, proudly dedicate this issue of the Climber to Miss E. Olivia Pearson. She has helped our school in innumerable ways, both in the classes she has taught and in extra-curricular activities. Her untiring help in directing the Senior Class play and her suggestions as Senior Class advisor have been of great value. In this way we wish to show our appreciation for the many things she has done for our class and our school.

Principal
Mr. Sperandio

ALL THE WORLD'S A STA

To the Class of 1960:

The whole mechanism of modern life seems to be geared for a flight from anywhere to nowhere. With no set goals, you, too, probably have had many desires. Realizing this, we tried to help you chart your programs of study so that you could develop a sense of security.

With basic courses of instructions, we tried to help you with the real lessons of life. With special areas of study, we tried to satisfy your personal needs. With many lessons in every day living, we tried to instill a respect for authority and a love for your neighbor.

Whether or not we realized our goals can be determined only by you. The place to take a true measure of your adulthood is alone with your thoughts. There you can lay aside the mask of life and judge for yourself. Have we contributed to your well-being? I certainly hope so. Good luck and may God be with you.

Sincerely yours, Peter J. Sperandio

To the Class of 1960:

I sincerely hope that you will put to good use, after graduation, the knowledge you have acquired in school.

In your roles as good citizens, you will be afforded more opportunities than ever before, to become leaders.

It is more vital than ever, that you raise your level of critical thinking through problems which will confront you.

It is also imperative today, that you be ready to deal, not only with community and state, but also with national and world affairs.

Our country needs young people who recognize and value highly, the qualities of wholesome character and good living.

I hope each one of you will exemplify these qualities.

Sincerely yours,

Bert L. Merrill

The National Honor Society plays an important part in the great performance of education. The players of this production will be the leaders of tomorrow's world and thus must fulfill the responsibilities placed in their hands.

The four Cardinal principles of this organization are—Character, Scholarship,

Leadership, and Service. These virtues must be fitted faithfully into the purpose of life. As the keystone is placed by the builder to keep the perfect arch forever true, so are the virtues represented in this symbol placed by us to keep forever true the structures of our education.

THE CLIMBER

As an essential prop of West Bridgewater High School, the Climber is an annual presentation which is produced by the senior class. The actors in this yearly performance are the students of the school. It is an account of the activities of the seniors for the past four years, including plays, proms, and athletics. However, the members of this cast also include the other students of the high school who participate in the yearly activities.

A SINCERE THANK YOU TO ...

The faculty for their patience and cooperation.

Mr. Folsom for the many errands.

Mr. Robert Vantine of Delmar Publishing Company for his invaluable aid in publishing the Climber.

Lorings Studios for their excellent photography and cooperation.

Our skilled typists who unselfishly gave us their time.

Mrs. Kent, our business advisor, for her interest in our work, but most of all for her able leadership in the procurement of the funds necessary for the publication of this book.

Our advertisers and patrons who made the yearbook possible by their generous material contributions.

The entire Climber staff and especially Miss Doyle who devoted much of her time to the production of this yearbook.

West Bridgewater High School for all its memories.

Ann Swanson, Editor Miss Virginia Doyle, Advisor Mrs. Marietta Kent, Business Advisor

Mainly all the quotations found within these pages have been taken from Shakespearian works.

Mr. Moss, our former teacher, librarian, and advisor, who has inspired, directed, and guided us by his high standards and excellent examples to the fulfillment of our most desirous goals.
